From Eliyahu

When Y'shua took up His ministry the first order of business was to deal with the attacks of the devil. In this world, the war is never over. However, at certain strategic points the war intensifies. At the cross, for example. Messiah won that battle, but his disciples were not ready for what was happening, and they were caught off guard. Messiah had sounded the battle cry ahead of the key battle, but His closest disciples failed to really hear it, so they weren't ready. Under the pressure of the enemy attack, they were scattered as wheat in a storm.

Fortunately, with Messiah's help they were able to re-group and move forward. All except for one, the betrayer, who had yielded himself over to the devil, to his own destruction.

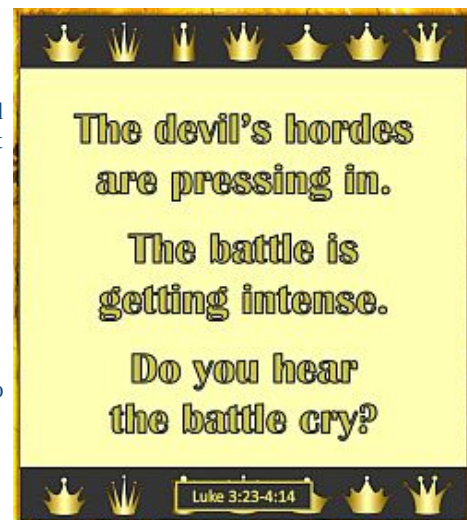

All of this reveals an important truth: no believer can afford to be caught unawares of the enemy's schemes. We simply have too much at stake to let that happen to us. And yet, it often does happen. Why?

Diversions tactics are a constant threat in warfare of every kind, whether carnal or spiritual. The idea is to stir up a distraction to attract the attention of the opposing force, then hit them while they are distracted. This usually works with lethal effect. The devil has perfected this tactic, and has carefully studied each of us. He knows what each of us wants. These are the very areas he uses to try and tempt our attention away from the fight. Many a believer has been fooled by this tactic, often with bruising effect on their lives.

This is where the battle cry comes in. The sound of the trumpet and the battle cry that goes with it calls attention back where it is needed - to the point of attack. This is crucial - to get your head into the battle. "Situational awareness" is absolutely crucial to winning any battle. You must face your enemy and courageously close with your enemy to defeat your enemy. Anything less and you will be the loser in the exchange. This is just as crucial in the spiritual battle we are facing as it is on a carnal battlefield.

The enemy is closing in! Will you help us sound the battle cry?

Battlecry 2018 is the theme and purpose of all of our special 7th month programming this year, to begin about 10 days from now. Much of this will be streamed live to the public at YouTube, as a way to reach as many believers as possible. This will include live music from Spiritsong, and special live presentations you won't want to miss. Can you help us get the word out, which so many believers so desperately need to hear? Just post these images on your website, Facebook, Pinterest, and anywhere else you can think of.

All of these special 7th month events will be suitable for, and available to the public. These Battlecry 2018 events will be informative, joyous, uplifting and encouraging for every believer. Live music from Spiritsong will be an inspiring and enjoyable feature of what we have planned. You won't want to miss this, as the Spirit moves in real time to strengthen and uplift us all! Please do your best to help us get the word out, to introduce this ministry to as many as possible.

Click and share this YouTube video with others. Now, about tonight. Our meeting will focus on Messiah, and will show us how He dealt with the temptations of the enemy. Consider this a bit of a primer for Battlecry 2018. Our online Tsiyon meeting, begins at 8 PM CST at Tsiyon.Net. Come, and be encouraged!

Shalom,

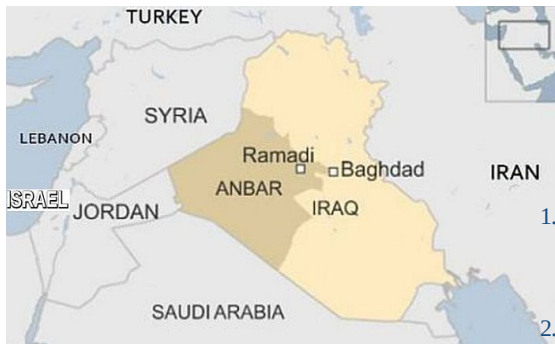

Eliyahu ben David

Iran launches anti-US-Israel front – from W. Iraq, with Tel Aviv in missile range, builds base facing Golan

Reprint: DEBKAfile, Aug 31, 2018

Iranian forces in W. Iraq, Russian armada, US-Russian-Israeli buildup

Russia, Iran, Syria and Hamas have launched six steps to counter the US-Israeli plan to hit Iranian military targets in Syria, which National Security Adviser John Bolton finalized in Jerusalem two weeks ago. That plan is to strike Iran's Al Qods Brigades and allied Shiite militia forces in Syrian and western Iraq, as DEBKAfile's military and intelligence sources were first to reveal. The US and Israel agreed to provide each other with reciprocal air and military cover for their operations in Syria. This accord was first implemented on Aug. 23, when unidentified warplanes bombed a pro-Iranian Iraqi Shiite Khataib Hezbollah convoy on the Syrian-Iraqi highway.

The Russian-backed Iranian-Syrian-Hamas alliance subsequently put together six counter-measures:

1. Iranian Defense Minister Amir Hatami arrived in Damascus with a large military delegation to sign expanded military cooperation pacts with Syrian ruler Bashar Assad. Israeli and American officials who initially made light of this event were forced to take a second look.
2. Iran was empowered by these accords to deepen its military grip on Syria, backed by the promise of Russian military and air cover modeled on the US-Israeli mutual commitment.
3. Tehran and Damascus agreed to retaliate for every US or Israel attack on Iran's Al-Qods or Shiite militia forces in Syria in the same coin, i.e. by targeting US military forces posted east of the Euphrates Rive along the Syrian-Iraqi border, or IDF forces inside the Golan enclave. Al Qods chief Gen. Qassem Soleimani was put in charge of these operations.
4. Our exclusive sources also reveal that the new military pacts signed by Iran and Syria provide explicitly for three large Iranian bases to go up in Syria as hubs for the various Iranian command posts dispersed across the country; one outside Aleppo; a second between Damascus and the Israeli Golan border and a third at a still undetermined location.
5. In the wake of these pacts, the United States, Russia, Iran and Israel are all engaged in military buildups in the Middle East and around Syria of intervention forces for a potential escalation.
The Americans have prepared major naval and air strength in the region capable of rapid responses, mainly with Tomahawk cruise missiles. The Russians are massing a sea armada opposite the Syrian coast. Fresh arrivals on Friday, Aug. 31, raised the number of warships to 24. Syrian air defense networks are on the highest war alert since early this week. The IDF's presence in northern Israel has been beefed up and the troops placed on high alert.
6. On Friday, Iran said it had supplied allied Iraqi Shiite militias with ground-to-ground missiles with ranges of between 200km and 700km. From Western Iraq, meaning Anbar, where Soleimani has concentrated a large force, these missiles can reach Tel Aviv; and from southern Iraq, the Saudi capital of Riyadh. The senior US allies in the region are therefore under fresh Iranian missile threat from Iraq. DEBKAFfile's military sources note that these missiles have long been in the hands of the Iraqi Shiite militias under Tehran's thumb, but Iran's leaders decided it could do no harm to release the information to its enemies at this time.
In former articles, our sources have pointed out that a US-Israeli showdown with Iran in Syria would inevitably spill over into Iraq. Hamas joined the emerging fray on Thursday, when its leader noted that the Palestinian organization also had rockets capable of reaching Tel Aviv. He was pointing up the collaboration between Gaza's Palestinian rulers and Tehran.
