From Eliyahu:

Shalom friends,

Fear of the apocalypse has created a big thing. It's called "Prepping" and millions of people are doing it. Typically it involves buying a lot of gear and supplies. No money? Don't know what to do? PrimalSurvivor, one of the many such websites for preppers, has it all worked out for you, with everything you will need to survive arranged in these categories: Food supplies, Water supplies, Hygiene supplies, First aid supplies, Lighting supplies, Cooking and heating supplies, Personal and home protection supplies and Evacuation supplies.

If you buy all that stuff, buy all the books, train in use of weapons and a lot of other things, and devote the rest of your life to being prepared, you might just survive the end of the world - or maybe not, if it turns out there is some vital element you forgot to plan for.

All of that is a lot of work. Perhaps you should just become a billionaire first and install a luxury bunker under each of your houses, complete with everything you will need to survive in style for years after the start of any of the full range of the most nasty disasters anyone in marketing history could ever dream up. You will have no trouble getting this done if you've got the millions, since bunkers for billionaires are big business these days. Once you have taken those initial steps to secure your empire for the short term, you then must consider the implications of the "long game" - where the world is headed over the long term. Of course, the moneyed elite already have all of that worked out.

Peter Thiel says the 1997 book, The Sovereign Individual: How to Survive and Thrive During the Collapse of the Welfare State, is the book he is most influenced by. Other Silicon Valley elite are similarly on board with the book, which is why they are all buying up large chunks of land in New Zealand. Here is a quick breakdown of the future according to this outlook:

- 1) The democratic nation-state basically operates like a criminal cartel, forcing honest citizens to surrender large portions of their wealth to pay for stuff like roads and hospitals and schools.
- 2) The rise of the internet, and the advent of cryptocurrencies, will make it impossible for governments to intervene in private transactions and to tax incomes, thereby liberating individuals from the political protection racket of democracy.
- 3) The state will consequently become obsolete as a political entity.
- 4) Out of this wreckage will emerge a new global dispensation, in which a "cognitive elite" will rise to power and influence, as a class of sovereign individuals "commanding vastly greater resources" who will no longer be subject to the power of nation-states and will redesign governments to suit their ends.

The Sovereign Individual is, in the most literal of senses, an apocalyptic text. [The book presents] an explicitly millenarian vision of the near future: the collapse of old orders, the rising of a new world. Liberal democracies will die out, ..Western civilization in its current form, they insist, will end with the millennium. "The new Sovereign Individual," they write, "will operate like the gods of myth in the same physical environment as the ordinary, subject citizen, but in a separate realm politically." [Source: <https://www.theguardian.com/news/2018/feb/15/why-silicon-valley-billionaires-are-prepping-for-the-apocalypse-in-new-zealand>]

If that sounds like a planned strategy to you, by which the super-wealthy are working to take over the world in a very overt way, then you understand the implications of the book. Only, it's not Doctor Evil from the movies. This is all absurdly real. In 1997 there were no "cryptocurrencies" - now they command billions of dollars. New Zealand is central to the strategy, and they are all trying to get a piece of New Zealand. Nationalism is being undermined in every way possible by the rise of socialism. The Silicon Valley elite are all super-liberals. Is that because they care for the poor and disadvantaged - or because speeding up the demise of the nation state through socialism speeds up their "sovereign Individual" plan? Make no mistake, the termites are eating out the foundation under the house, not just because they are hungry, but because they WANT to cause the house to collapse! Give it a little more time, and it will.

"Prepping" is not going to help you in the face of this level of change. All the canned goods and bottled water in the world cannot preserve your God-given rights from the ravages of the new world order that is being custom-crafted by the elite at the expense of the ordinary person. The immense social and political upheavals you are daily witnessing testify dramatically to how rapidly the old world is fading and the planned feudalism of the wealthy is taking over. The world has been changing at lightening speed since we entered the new millennium, but the next decade or so will leave all that behind like a blur, bringing us into this technocratic dystopian future. You can't prep for changes this monumentally profound - not in the usual definition of prepping.

In the end, prepping will come down to picking a side. Most people will see the elite winning, and will throw their lot in with them, despite the fact they are evil, selfish megalomaniacs. In doing so they will expose just how evil and self-destructive the world of mankind actually is. They will prove this wicked world deserves and needs to be destroyed - and it will be, by the returning Lord, Y'shua Messiah. Of course, it is Messiah who represents another choice - the righteous choice. At the end He will return and the elite have no plan and no means by which they can stop Him. Ultimately, He is the Ruler of the world, not them, and He is coming to claim it for Himself. When He comes everyone will get what they deserve.

"Prepping" - it turns out - is really about preparing your life and your inner man to get through this "end of the age" with your faith intact and your life lived in His service. In view of the opposing forces, being ready for His return will be increasingly rigorous and demanding through the remaining years, with everything of eternal value at stake. Messiah set out what this will involve, in Luke 12. This is all before us, right now.

Shalom,

Eliyahu

Russian Patriarch Warns ‘Antichrist’ Will Control Humans Through Gadgets

Reprint Moscow Times / Jan. 08 2019

The leader of the Russian Orthodox Church has said that humans’ dependence on modern technology will result in the coming of the Antichrist.

In an interview with Russian state media, Patriarch Kirill explained he does not entirely oppose gadgets, but warned against “falling into slavery” to smartphones.

Patriarch Kirill said that the collection of user data including “location, interests and fears” will make it possible for humans to be controlled by external forces.

“Control from a single point is a harbinger of the coming of the Antichrist,” Kirill told the state-run Rossia-1 TV network on Orthodox Christmas Monday.

“The Antichrist is a personality that will be at the head of the world wide web controlling the entire human race. Thus, the structure itself presents a danger,” he said.

The church leader stressed that “if we don’t want to bring the apocalypse closer, there should be no single [control and access] center.”

MOSCOW (AP) / Jan. 08 2019 — The head of the Russian Orthodox Church says the data-gathering capacity of devices such as smartphones risks bringing humanity closer to the arrival of the Antichrist.

In an interview shown Monday on state TV, Patriarch Kirill said the church does not oppose technological progress but is concerned that “someone can know exactly where you are, know exactly what you are interested in, know exactly what you are afraid of” and that such information could be used for centralized control of the world.

“Control from one point is a foreshadowing of the coming of Antichrist, if we talk about the Christian view. Antichrist is the person who will be at the head of the world wide web that controls the entire human race,” he said.
