Prayer Alert Update!

Here is latest update on 3 year old Logan: "Thank you all for all of your prayers and for forwarding the requests. The outpouring for this family has been tremendous. Logan's mom could hardly talk without crying last night when we were talking about all of the prayers. She believes that the prayers have done more to help everyone, Logan included, than anything else. I am very happy to say that Logan is making some progress. He is opening his eyes, turning his head, and posturing. I'm not sure what they mean by posturing, so if anyone can say what is meant by that, it would be great. They are baby steps, but we'll take them. His mom says that they still have him on the ventilator to keep a good supply of oxygen to his brain. His condition is still critical, and he is still hour to hour, day to day and things could change at any time." Let's continue to pray for Logan and his family.

Prayer Request

This week our friend and brother, Yaakov, had a tire explode while he was fixing it. He hurt his hand, splitting open one finger clear to the bone. As breadwinner in his family, he is continuing to work even though some time away from work would be more beneficial for the healing of his hand. Please pray for a quick recovery for Yaakov.

If you know someone who may be interested in receiving this news letter, please forward to your friend.

Lotsa Motza?

As the feast of Unleavened Bread continues we remember the haste with which YHWH led our fathers out of Egypt. They were being liberated so fast there was not even enough time to allow bread to rise. As you eat your motza through the rest of the feast, remember, this is not only a memorial. It is also a rehearsal. One day we will be hurriedly leaving Egypt ourselves in the 2nd Exodus!

Shalom in Messiah,

Eliyahu ben David and Dawn
