UNITED NATIONS CONTROL?

*This question is now
...in the movies
...and in our streets.*

TSIYON.ORG

Have you ever wondered how popular movies seem to anticipate real life events?

How could Marvels "Captain America Civil War" anticipate the issue behind the chaos in the streets of America and around the world this summer?

From Eliyahu

Hello Friends,

Here are the stats on the movie, Captain America: Civil War.

Summary: Political pressure mounts to install a system of accountability when the actions of the Avengers lead to collateral damage. The new status quo deeply divides members of the team. Captain America believes superheroes should remain free to defend humanity without government interference. Iron Man sharply disagrees and supports [United Nations] oversight. As the debate escalates into an all-out feud, [other team members] must pick a side.

Release date: May 6, 2016 (USA)

Box office: 1.132 billion USD

Budget: 250 million USD

It tops the list for Marvel's highest-grossing film domestically ($623.3 million), the highest-grossing film distributed by Disney, the highest-grossing superhero movie and the highest-grossing movie based on comics.

This movie is still playing in theaters and will be released on DVD in September.

When I first saw this movie I was amazed that the central issue of the movie is United Nations control of the super heroes - and therefore by extension - of anyone who could ever be considered a danger to others - which means UN control of EVERYONE!

Granted, this point is subtle in its larger scope, but it is definitely there if you follow the plot through to its logical conclusion. In the movie, the Avengers, a team of super heroes, tends to tear things up around the world in the course of saving the world from alien invaders and other dastardly villains. Let's face it, if you are a super hero you can't fight super villains who are super-destructive without making a bit of a mess yourself. Hence, the Avengers, although the good guys, are involved in destroying stuff around the world.

The UN tells the Avengers they can't keep avenging without UN supervision - even if they are the good guys. Amazingly, some of the Avengers sign up for this while others say "No Way!" Suddenly, because they don't sign on with the UN, the later group are branded as outlaws by the world community!

I'll leave the plot there so I don't spoil it for you, if you haven't seen the movie. However, what I'm interested in sharing with you about this is how the story seems to anticipate the real-life situation developing in America and around the world right now. Clearly, this has been a summer of chaos, with outrageous terrorist acts of violence at home and abroad, with what appears to be racially-motivated strife and even a war on police in the streets of America, which the police themselves appear to be unable to control.

Could this be a parallel to the movie?

Could all of this chaos in the streets be a pretext for United Nations control?

I'm going to have more to say about that in our live meeting, tonight at 8 PM CST, at Tsiyon.Net, but I think this hugely successful movie looks like propaganda created in advance of the elite-provoked chaos to condition the minds of the public to the question of UN control.

I must say, once again Tsiyon is ahead of the curve on world events. Kikki, a member of our Tsiyon Team, has been writing screen plays since before last Passover for our Tsiyon Team to produce. These deal in a very interesting way with a number of important issues, including the issue of UN control. The Tsiyon Team has completed its first production from this series. This dramatic production can be seen as providing some commentary on the latest Captain America movie, but focusing on the bigger issues, especially spiritual issues, that all of us need to think about. I'm excited about this video for a number of reasons; firstly, because I'm not in it at all! This is produced entirely by some of our Tsiyon young people, and I know as you watch it you will feel as proud of them as I am.

We are going to air Team Captain America v Team Iron Man exclusively for our Tsiyon Partners at our live meeting tonight! Don't miss this important presentation tonight, at 8 PM CST, at Tsiyon.Net. You are going to love this!

Shalom, Eliyahu

The Palestinians And Jordan Declare Religious War Against The Jews — It Is Dangerous

Reprint: Worldpost, 07/12/2016 12:16 pm 12:16:21

Dr. Josef Olmert, Middle East scholar, former peace negotiator, journalist

The Unesco World Heritage Committee is about to do what even in the annals of the UN is unprecedented. It is going to vote on a Palestinian-Jordanian resolution bluntly stating that the Old City of Jerusalem and Temple mount have no historic ties to the Jews, and calling for a return to the old "historic status quo" in the holy site. REALLY? The UN decides on holy places of religions? Did the UN ever even contemplate about holy places of Muslims, Catholics, Protestants, Buddhists, Sikhs, Rastafarians? [and pardon me if I forgot anyone...]. It is only against Jews that something like that is in motion. This is what can be called anti-semitism, pure and simple. An attempted cultural/religious genocide against Jews and their history and religion. It is to be hoped, that the 21-member committee will evade this atrocity, but the hope for this happening are slim at best. There is an automatic majority against Israel in Unesco, and in the UN altogether. Some background is needed here, something which will highlight the "historic status quo" they are talking about ?

First, history, but since when? It is an historic fact, that the SECOND Jewish Temple was destroyed by the Romans in the year 70 A.D., after an heroic Jewish struggle, and this happened 600 years before the Islamic occupation of Jerusalem. The FIRST Jewish Temple was destroyed by the Babylonians at 586 B.C, 1200 years before the occupation of Jerusalem by the Muslims. You want history, well, here is a piece of it — what happened between 1948 to 1967, the years of the illegal Jordanian occupation of the Old City of Jerusalem, leading to an annexation of Jerusalem and the West Bank by Jordan, on 24 April 1950, which was never recognized by any international organ. Jews were the only ones forbidden by the Jordanian occupiers from exercising their thousands years long right to pray at the Wailing Wall and Temple Mount. Christians and Muslims were allowed to pray there. Needless to say, under this "historic" Jordanian status quo, there was an ethnic cleansing of Jews from the Old City , and ALL the synagogues were razed to the ground.

So, this is the status quo that the UN wants to return to. Wishful thinking on their part, it will not happen.

Then there is another context, the political one. For the Palestinians to negate any Jewish tie to Jerusalem is obvious. Were they to acknowledge it, then the entire argument about them being the indigenous population is nonsensical. The Muslim Mayor of Jerusalem, Yusuf Al-Khalidi did acknowledge exactly that in 1891. Much has changed since then, so the official position of the Palestinian Authority [PA] under Chairman Abbas is that the original Jewish Temple was built by King Solomon, 3000 years ago, and Solomon was a Muslim [1400 years before the Prophet Muhammad. Go figure]. But Jordan? Some blunt truth should be addressed to the Hashimite Kingdom of Jordan; For you to initiate this atrocious resolution is stupid politically, short-sighted and eventually very dangerous.

The last thing that anyone needs these days, that is to say, reasonable and far-sighted people, is to ignite a religious fire over Temple Mount. The Hashimites should remember history, not least the history of the tacit but so effective actual Israeli guarantee for Jordan's independence. They should also remember their disgraceful expulsion from Mecca in 1924 by the Saudis. They should remember it all, because they may arouse currently sleeping dogs.

Those who will remind them that Jordan could become Palestine, those who will remind them that those who want to remove one religious group from its holy places, can themselves be removed from these very holy places.

All this is bad. Who needs this madness right now? What useful purpose does it serve? Can we expect reason to prevail in the excruciating heat of July in the Middle East?. Jerusalem is a powder keg, and there are rights there to Muslims and Christians. Taking Jewish rights away is therefore unacceptable.

This is the mildest way I can put it. Many others will define it in much stronger terms and may act accordingly.
