THE LAST AGE

OF THE WORLD

...CONCLUSION

By Eliyahu ben David

Tsiyon.Org - Tsiyon.Net

What lies just ahead?

From Eliyahu

Consider this:

Where did the world come from? How did it get from there (whenever and wherever that was) to the world we live in today? How does it fit in to the larger universe? Perhaps more importantly for us, where is the world going and what does it all mean?

To answer those most basic questions some say: "follow the science!"

Some others answer: "yeah, right. The world has been doing that through the entire covid fiasco and we have all seen the so-called "science" contradict itself over and over again! Maybe "science" is somehow not as sacrosanct as we all were led to believe."

There is a point in that. Science, in the hands of human beings, often lets us down. For example, yesterday I read an article from the Western Journal entitled: Woman Volunteered for Cutting-Edge Eye Implant, Years Later Hears a Small Beeping Before Her Entire World Goes Dark. Here's the main thrust of the article:

"..many people who found life-changing relief with the Argus retinal implant systems are now finding that they risk being returned to blindness — or worse, serious medical distress ... Many were implanted with the Argus systems over the past two decades, giving them enough sight to go about their lives. For many, Argus was a revelation that gave them an amazing increase in their standard of living ... One of them, a New Yorker named Barbara Campbell, says that she had her device implanted to compensate for a genetic disease that rendered her completely blind in her 30s. But Campbell says last year when she was walking through the New York subway system, she heard a few odd beeping noises — then everything went black when her device completely failed her ... [The reason?] the Argus system has been abandoned by Second Sight Medical Products because the tech did not make the company enough money ... It all amounts to a tale most Americans don't think about. We are all tuned to hearing these wonderful stories of new technology, certainly. We see similar stories in the media every day. But we rarely hear when the companies that invented such tech go out of business."

Money and science are joined at the hip. Big business hires scientists to do scientific studies to support their products and services. If the studies provide the "right" conclusions more money and grants flow toward those conducting them. If not, the money stops. Just because something is called "science" doesn't mean it was discovered in a vacuum free of all corruption, greed, coercion and bias.

Consider the amazing documentaries you may have seen on TV, unveiling the secrets of the universe. You can watch the video of the big bang, the universe being formed, the first life "evolving" on earth, and the movements of galaxies and planets too far away for the eye to even see. It all looks so real, and the narrations all sound so certain of human knowledge about the cosmos. This is "science" and who would dare to challenge it? You might be surprised to learn that all of that is far from being as certain as those videos would have you believe.

For example, consider this article from BBC Science Focus Magazine: The cracks in cosmology: Why our Universe doesn't add up. Right at the start the article says: "In terms of our understanding of the Universe, some things just don't add up. Which means either our measurements are wrong, or our theories are."

That's an amazing admission from a science publisher. Either our measurements or our "scientific" theories about the cosmos ARE WRONG! How could that be? Later in the article we learn the crux of the problem: "the basic Big Bang picture .. conflicts with observations. First, and most seriously, it predicts that we should not exist."

The lesson here is: Science as understood and applied by humans cannot be anymore reliable than fallible humans themselves. The standard model of cosmology doesn't add up because, apparently, there is something key to reality that scientists are missing!

The Scriptures explain very well what the scientists aren't seeing. Hebrews 1:3 says the Creator is "upholding all that exists by his powerful word." He is the supernatural force at work in the creation, literally holding it all together. That is beyond the natural materialist mind of modern science. Since the Creator is literally holding the universe together, He cannot be left out of the equations that explain the cosmos - hence, the flawed science of man. It is, in fact, absurd to think that you can ever understand the creation if you leave out the Creator! This is the ignorance of modern scientists, itself foreseen by the Creator, as Scripture says to them:

"Haven't you known? Haven't you heard, yet? Haven't you been told from the beginning? Haven't you understood from the foundations of the earth? It is He who sits above the circle of the earth, and its inhabitants are like grasshoppers; who stretches out the heavens like a curtain, and spreads them out like a tent to dwell in" Isaiah 40:21-22

Contrast human ignorance with the amazing knowledge of God! He, of course, perfectly understands the universe He created and holds together. Further, He knows why He created it in the first place, and has ordered all things to fulfill His purpose in creating it. The universe is not governed by mere chance, but exists to work out a plan and a purpose conceived in the mind of the eternal God before ever it was even created. As Scripture tells us: "All his works are known to Elohim from eternity" (Acts 15:18).

This plan of Elohim is being unfolded through time on a definite schedule of His own design. Of this He says:

"I am God, and there is no other; I am God, and there is none like Me, Declaring the end from the beginning, And from ancient times things that are not yet done, Saying, 'My counsel shall stand, And I will do all My pleasure" Isaiah 46:9-10

The Divine Plan, and even the schedule on which the plan is unfolding, can be known to any whom the Creator wishes to reveal it. That will not include those who deny Him, but is given to those who humbly acknowledge His Creatorship, and their own obligations to Him, their Creator. Comparing His Word to the flow of history itself reveals His plan, and His schedule, and His purpose for which creation and history is all designed to accomplish. It just so happens, as we tap into these facts, that we are nearing the end of the last age of this world. The implications of that for you and for all mankind are profound. As you enter into His Mind, and look at the cosmos and its history from His perspective, you will find that His Plan all adds up perfectly.

Join me tonight online as we consider what can be known about the ages of the world, and where we are right now on His time schedule. Our Tsiyon meeting tonight at Tsiyon.Net starts at 8 PM, CST. Tonight's Fast Track video will be aired free, with my live update following, so invite your relatives and friends to sign-up at Tsiyon.Net to take this all in. Here I will candidly share with you what I'm seeing just ahead.

"When you see these things happening, recognize that the kingdom of God is near.

Truly I say to you, this generation will not pass away until all these things take place."

Luke 21:31-32

Remember this: he who sows sparingly will also reap sparingly. He who sows bountifully will also reap bountifully. 2 Corinthians 9:6
