Don't miss our live online Tsiyon Meeting at Tsiyon.Net tonight, featuring:

From Eliyahu

Consider this:

As I sit here writing my first newsletter of this 12th month of this Shmita year I'm asking myself; "what is the best word describing the year we are now so close to completing? I don't even finish the question in my head before the answer immediately pops up. The word "change" has to be the answer. In fact, that word well describes the world we have been coping with for some years now. The world is now changing at an exponential rate, making it impossible for any one person to keep up with it all, with no end to the blurring rate of change in sight. The effect of such prodigious change on individuals and human society as a whole has been described as "future shock."

Future Shock - the perfect term for this experience of rapid change. You may already be familiar with the term, or you may be curious about where the term originated. Wikipedia explains:

Future Shock is a 1970 book by American futurist Alvin Toffler, written together with his spouse Adelaide Farrell, in which the authors define the term "future shock" as a certain psychological state of individuals and entire societies. The shortest definition for the term in the book is a personal perception of "too much change in too short a period of time". The book, which became an international bestseller, has sold over 6 million copies and has been widely translated. - Wikipedia

You might be thinking that 1970 seems quite early for this term to have emerged. Actually, the term itself was coined even earlier, in the 60s, by Toffler and a colleague, but only became famous when Toffler wrote his book about it. Realize that people were already suffering from future shock in the 60s and 70s, and we thought that was bad. That was child's play compared to the rate of change now. Here's some more, describing the problem of future shock:

Alvin Toffler argued that society is undergoing an enormous structural change, a revolution from an industrial society to a "super-industrial society". This change overwhelms people. He argues that the accelerated rate of technological and social change leaves people disconnected and suffering from "shattering stress and disorientation"—future shocked. Toffler stated that the majority of social problems are symptoms of future shock. In his discussion of the components of such shock he popularized the term "information overload." - Wikipedia

Now, information overload is such a ubiquitous experience that TMI (too much information) is a common cell phone texting term.

"Shattering stress and disorientation" throughout society makes people very vulnerable to the mass mind-control of the "Great Reset." The elites want to reset your brain to make you over in their image. This is working with a lot of people, since there is too much information for them to process on their own. Independent thinking and decision-making is stymied by TMI, so the mind then looks outward for direction to the prevailing authorities and voices of the world.

This is where the Scriptures come in, because they are filled with truth and if you follow them you will preserve your sound mind. Of course, this is why the elites hate the Bible, and the Bible's morality. It is the only real antidote to Future Shock, and more especially, to their mass mind-control.

I said all of that to say this: over the next 7 years the acceleration of crazy events, and therefore of Future Shock and mind-control will far surpass anything we or this world have ever experienced. While surprises in this scenario are certain to happen, Bible prophecy and real facts on the ground make it possible for us to know a lot about this upcoming period in advance. That is what I am focusing on during this 12th month. I want to make sense of the major trends and events that got us here, as well as share what I know from Scripture about what will be coming up over this next 7 year period. I believe having this Biblical picture of reality can counter the brain-numbing TMI that the devil and his little helpers have in mind for the world during this up-coming period. That's why I'm wanting to share all of this with you now.

With so much going on in the world around us, it is easy to miss all that is going on in the heavens. The sky is getting as weird as our world. Why is that happening? At our meeting tonight I want to talk about that - and where all that celestial weirdness is going to take us during this next 7 year cycle.

"Why is the sky being weird?" is tonight's theme. This will be free for all Tsiyon members, including free members. Anyone can sign up and sign in for this. Tell your friends and relatives to join you for this tonight. That's at Tsiyon.Net at 8 PM, CST. There are signs in the Sun, Moon, and stars - just as Messiah said there would be as we approach the end of the Age.

Blessings and good health to you,

Eliyahu
