*Did the coronation of
King Charles III
reveal the antichrist?*

From Eliyahu

Consider this:

The recent coronation of King Charles III was a spectacle seen by many millions around the world. Many people loved the pomp and circumstance of the entire panorama, while many others found it amusing, as if viewing a strange event from the ancient past that somehow slipped into modern times. To some, Charles appears to be a comical figure who seems awkwardly out of place at the center of such an ostentatious display. That view of Charles is good for a laugh, while disregarding the vast extent of power and influence he now exerts in the world.

Charles III is now the king of the United Kingdom and the fourteen other Commonwealth realms. The Commonwealth realms are sovereign states that have Charles III as their monarch and head of state. They are also members of the Commonwealth of Nations, an intergovernmental organization of 56 independent member states, 52 of which were formerly part of the British Empire. Charles III is also Head of the Commonwealth itself.

There are a total of 193 member states in the United Nations. Fifty-five of them are Commonwealth states, over whom Charles is Monarch. That means Charles potentially controls over one quarter of United Nations votes. No one else has anything like that kind of reach in the global political landscape.

That is not just hypothetical. At the United Nations Earth Summit of 1992 Prince Charles introduced the concept of "sustainability", along with an extensive global plan to achieve it. Since then he has been tirelessly promoting that UN program around the world. That effort, in tandem with the World Economic Forum and other elitist and super-wealthy organizations, eventually led to the 2015 ratification of the United Nations 2030 Agenda, which is now driving the world toward a one-world government by 2030.

In 2020, while the world was reeling from the Covid-19 machinations, Charles kicked off the "Great Reset" program of the World Economic Forum with these words:

"We have a golden opportunity to seize something good from this crisis — its unprecedented shockwaves may well make people more receptive to big visions of change ... As we move from rescue to recovery, we have a unique but rapidly shrinking window of opportunity to learn lessons and reset ourselves on a more sustainable path. It is an opportunity we have never had before and may never have again."

That Great Reset has been unfolding since then, forcing the will of the global elite onto everyone else in the world. Laugh at Charles if you want, but be aware that he has wielded extensive influence that is being felt, and now that he has become king, his power in the world has been magnified far more than most people realize.

King Charles III

...Crowned on David's Throne?

Given the globalist ambitions and accomplishments of King Charles III, the symbolisms involved in his coronation must be seen as something more than simply walking through the motions of outdated traditions from the medieval past. Numerous genealogies of the royals, including Charles, lay claim to Davidic descent. Like David, Charles was anointed king by the use of holy anointing oil. In fact, the oil used in the anointing of Charles was specifically prepared and blessed in Israel for his anointing at his coronation. "Messiah" means "anointed one" and refers directly to an anointing with oil as king. Is there an implied meaning here that King Charles III is making claim to the role of Messiah - really the anti-messiah?

Then we have the Coronation Chair and the Stone of Scone, also called the Stone of Destiny. When Britain's King Charles III was crowned in London on May 6, he sat on an ancient wooden throne generally called the Coronation Chair. Historians say the Coronation Chair was introduced to British history in the coronation of Edward II in 1308. Not surprisingly, the Coronation Chair is the oldest chair in use in Britain. The age of the chair is not, however, its most distinguishing feature. When in use, the seat of the chair tops a 335-pound boulder - The Stone of Destiny. Now, that's unique!

The enduring legend of the stone claims that the stone was brought to the British Isles by the prophet Jeremiah, and that it is, in fact, the very stone upon which the patriarch, Jacob, rested his head as he received a dream from God over three and a half millennia ago. Afterwards Jacob anointed the stone with oil and entered into covenant with YHWH. The stone is thus seen by some as the enduring symbol of the authority of YHWH vested in Israel. (Genesis 28)

The legend further claims that a line of Davidic kings was established upon the stone in Scotland, which is a legendary explanation of how the stone came to be used in the coronation of kings. Realize, there is no hard evidence that Jacob's stone ever came to the British Isles - or that Jeremiah ever came there - but that is the legend many see behind the stone. In view of this legend, could the coronation seated upon the Stone of Destiny actually be a claim to the Divine Right of Kings by virtue of the Davidic Covenant?

The Bible establishes that there are two sides of the Davidic House. The righteous side and the wicked side. This could very well be the reason why there must be a counterpart to the true righteous Messiah, that is, a corresponding wicked anti-messiah. We know that Yeshua the Nazarene is the true Messiah, so draw your own conclusions from there.

One thing we are seeing from the coronation symbolism is that the Davidic Covenant continues to have an impact on world events. This is only one of many reasons every believer needs to comprehend the Davidic Covenant. This covenant extends to far more than a simple proof that Yeshua is the Messiah - while it is that, it is also more.

The fact is, you cannot understand the Gospels without a knowledge of the Davidic Covenant - which is why we are taking a deep dive into the Davidic Covenant at our live meeting tonight. Join our live-stream tonight at Tsiyon.Net at 8 PM, CST. You haven't heard this before, so don't miss it.
