TURKEY: PROJECTING THE CALIPHATE

"Son of man, set your face against Gog of the land of Magog, chief prince of Meshech and Tubal, and prophesy against him."
Ezekiel 38:2

Turkey has the largest deployment of international troops after the US, with military bases now in all these countries.

From Eliyahu

As we entered the 2020s we were living firmly in a globalist world. As we entered 2025, it seems like all that has now changed and we are leaving all of that behind. Of course, that can all flip back again - and will, with a vengeance. The only constant in this decade seems to be constant change. Anyone can be forgiven if they feel confused and exhausted from all of the change the world has experienced through this crazy decade.

The rate of global change in this decade is truly unprecedented in several aspects. Here are some of them:

Global Disasters Database: Organizations like the Centre for Research on the Epidemiology of Disasters (CRED) and the United Nations Office for Disaster Risk Reduction (UNDRR) compile data on natural disasters. Reports from these organizations have indicated an increase in the number of reported disasters over recent years. There has been a noticeable rise in the frequency and intensity of extreme weather events, such as hurricanes, floods, droughts, heatwaves, fires, and arctic cold events.

Technological Advancement: The rapid pace of technological changes, including advancements in artificial intelligence, biotechnology, renewable energy, and digital communication, is transforming industries and societies at an unprecedented speed. This decade has seen significant leaps in AI capabilities, influencing various sectors and raising ethical and societal considerations, while also driving the rate of change generally off the charts.

Social Dynamics: Social movements related to issues like social justice, racial equality issues, and gender confusion have gained global momentum. The interconnectedness provided by digital platforms has facilitated rapid dissemination of propaganda and mobilization of activism worldwide.

Global Health: The COVID-19 pandemic taught us all how quickly global health situations can change and impact economies, travel, and daily life, sometimes resulting in loss of basic freedoms and long-lasting effects on just about everything.

Biodiversity Loss: This one is easy to miss. The acceleration of biodiversity loss due to habitat destruction, pollution, and overexploitation has reached critical levels, with numerous species facing extinction at rates far beyond historical norms.

While other historical periods have seen significant changes, the combination of these modern factors, along with the interconnectedness of global systems, makes the current decade unprecedented in terms of the speed, scale, and rate of change.

While all of these modern factors are very real, are there other forces behind the global changes as well?

"You once walked
according to this world,

According to the prince of the power of the air,

the spirit who now works in the children of disobedience."

Ephesians 2:2

There is a deeper level that fosters change. That is the spiritual level. Spiritual powers exist, residing in our atmosphere, that hate our Creator and who oppose Him at every turn. The devil is the "prince of the power of the air" and though invisible, he and his vast spiritual forces of wickedness fight against righteousness at every turn, working in and through "the children of disobedience." This amounts to an age-old rebellion, a war against our Messiah, raging in the heavenly places. It is this spiritual war that we see manifested on the physical plane, through the movements of the nations and power-players of the earth.

In our modern world so much is happening all at the same time that people often don't know where to look, or what the real significance of events may be. In fact, most of us may not even be aware of some of the most important things that are happening, because the public focus is often directed toward the wrong things. Here is where Bible prophecy comes in. Bible prophecy is real history, written in advance, as seen by the One who knows the end from the beginning. His Word calls our time by terms like the "Latter Days" and "The Time of the End." The most significant events that occur during these days are events foretold in Scripture for our day. [Daniel 11:35, 40, 12:9]

A great example of this is the country of Turkey. Unless you are from there, you probably do not see that country as a place of special interest. However, I do see Turkey as a place of special interest and have been following events having to do with Turkey for at least two decades. In my last special message I explained why. Turkey will be the place of origin from which the prophetic figure known in Scripture as "Gog" will arise, as YHWH prophetically states to him:

"After many days you shall be visited: in the latter years you shall come into the land that is brought back from the sword, that is gathered out of many peoples, on the mountains of Israel, which have been a continual waste; but it is brought forth out of the peoples, and they shall dwell securely, all of them. You shall ascend, you shall come like a storm, you shall be like a cloud to cover the land, you, and all your hordes, and many peoples with you." (Ezekiel 38:8-9)

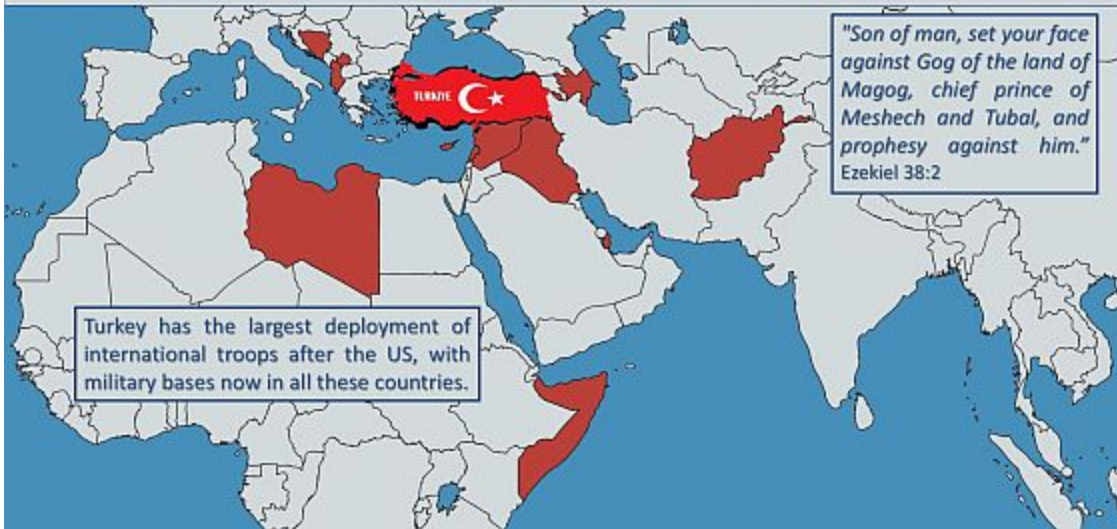

Why do I think Gog will arise from Turkey? I have largely answered that question in earlier messages, but there is still more. The prophetic account lays out a diverse set of requirements that Gog must fill, that none other can fill. To make a long story short, I'm seeing that happening like never before. Before long the requirements now emerging on the horizon will click into place and Gog will burst onto the world stage to fulfill all that the Scripture has foretold about him. When I started talking about this two decades ago it was all faith - now, more and more - it has become reality. My message tonight will help to bring you up to date on many of these changes that have occurred, as we fit these into the prophetic picture.
